DISEASES OF THE LUNGS AND THROAT BY THE

INHALATION OF COLD MEDICATED VAPORS.

"WHAT IS COSSUMPTION!"

By GUILFORD D SARONA, M. D.,
Of The New York Lung Institute, No. 6 Bund et.

To the Editor of The N. 7. Tribuse

Sin; Consumption (Philais Paimonaise) is a disease which destrey nearly one fourth of the human family. While no class or condition is exempt from its situates still it desights to seize for its victims the young, the beautiful and most telented. Scarcely a domestic hearth can be found which has not lost by ins reverse the "eserce toes of all." There is a dread to its name—it falls upon the ear like a death-haell. The mind instinctively associates it with the charmel house, the winding sheet, the worm, and the first earth thrown on the codie's narrow id. Well may it craite horror and alarm, for instead of eslaving its relectives greep and staying its rapid stide, it is increasing with a rapidly viraly starting.

In endeavoring in this and other communications to answer the inquiry, "What is Consamption!" all medical terms of technicalnies will, as much as possible, be avoided. Without rewrite to the earlier medical views concerning to consumption, which modern discoveries have shown to abound for even the dilless comprehension. I came at once to the theory and pathology of the disease which is presentally believed to be correct, and adopted by the first medical incased by a deposit in the affects of its lungs of a peculiar matter formed by the blood, resembling classes, in many respects, to which is given the new first of the starter and nature, there exists a will be difference of opinion Ace this structure of the contents of the structure of the contents of the structure of the contents of the difference of opinion Ace this structure of opinion Ace this structure of opinion and the structure of the contents of the contents of the present of the structure of the contents of the structure of the contents of the content the different views which have been, and are still, entertained agon the subject, for no practical but fit to be enforting invalid will be derived the refrom.

The present theory with reas d to Consumption, for Pthysis, is that it is a disease of the blood, manifesting itself through and upon the lungs; or, in other words, that it diseases, us it appears in the lungs is the result of a needless.

Now I would ask yet. Ser, whether it accords with the true flineriples of imperation, at each of common humanity, that a should endone a pocaration of alcohol the remedial effects of which are "certified by endowed doctors to be manqualed" and which ye younged date to be pure, and even recognize has a legitimate medicine, when ordered by "total abstinction on the knows what he is shout!" Can the law that in effect shell show such a present in a while is open the door fifther and the series of the unguaranted and stutterated legions of commonce be just humane or especiant!

I will now proceed to show that such must necessarily be the operation of the til now before the Legislature, should become a law in its present slape. The first section of the action are the following clause:

Nor half it (interfacting inpur) be kept or deposited in say place whatsoever, except in such dwelling-bouse as above described, or in a church, as place of worship for accramacial component, or in a place where either some chemical, mechanical or medical art is carried on as a require hand of business, or while in the actual transportion from one place to another, or stand in a warchouse pitor to lite reaching the place of its described in the actual transportion from one place to another, or stand in a warchouse pitor to lite reaching the place of thing-destination"

By the above clause I am deprived of the privilege of bringing the Schiedam Schnepps from the public stars to my ware-would become the projectly of the State. I should not be permitted to hold it in pipes, much less to bottle it for exportation.

But suppose it were possible to sell the Schiedam Schuspoin the outsinal pipes to town agents the precise of its "expelience" would be lost. I sell it now in quart and pint bottles, uncer a private seal, and surrounded by all the grasmines which can callst the confidence of purchasers. The fact that its received by me direct from my own seal and signature, are an assurance to the public that it own own manufactory at Schledam, that it is bottled by myself, that it can only leave my establishment under my own seal and signature, are an assurance to the public that it consuch have been tameered with They feel that they are protected against feated. But if it be forwarded to its destination in pipes instead of reside bottles, all these sergunds are blown to the winds. The Schuspomsy be abstracted on route or afterward, and common ris substituted therafor; in short there is no protection for the sick against deleterious counterful.

There is earney a town search in Maine, Massachusetts, or Vermont who does not keep my Schuapps for asle as a medicine, and I may add, that there is earneys a physician in any part of the Union, he he a Temperance man or otherwise, who does not prescribe it he acettain case of thesaes. It is kept by the town-agents because the sick and the faculty demand it, and they demand it because they know its parity and excellence are guarantied beyond all question by the manner in which it is part up, readed and otherwise suthenticated. Does it seem to you to be wise or proper that a liquor soid to the sick, under the Maine law if should be condemy and honestly conceded. If the sick are to have liquor at all, should into the that which, "eminent decions" certify to be "unrequaled," and the excellent quality of which you so can derive not of temperance hold to deprive a pure medicinal inques of the gueranties which each te he have liquor at all, should be oncomed. In all other civilized countries there are lows against this necknown practice; but in the United States it may be carried on to any extent with perfect inpunity. Under such circumstances, supposing that injuor it to be seld as a medicine at all. These bonds are payable in New-York on the 1st of March, and under the rule adopted by the State Treasurer, the money cannot be realised for the n by the creditors of the State before the 15th to the 25th of April. Such a dodge as this can only be for the benefit of speculators, and will react very unfavorably upon the credit of the State. After this small le, and the infamous treatment received by Mesers. Duncan, Sherman & Co , for their liberal interference for the credit of the State, in the matter of the interest on the public debt, California may well become a by-word of reproach among Capitalists.

Mr. Bacon received to-day she half-million transfer

The advices from the Panama Railroad by the North Star are very favorable. The road was in full operation, and business was so good that the Superin-tendan: had no time to write in detail to the Company. The British Mail steamer Dee had arrived with 750 packages goods for the West Coast of South America, which was being transported over the Road, and the next steamer would bring 1,500 packages. The agent of the Steamer line predicts a very large business from this source. We annex the tariff of passenger and freight rates on this Road, as a curiosity. The and freight rates on this Road, as a curiosity. rates of trasportation over a road only about 50 miles long will, to the comprehension of our northern railread managers, appear truly enormous. The reasons for some of the distinctions between different classes of freight are not very apparent, but time, probably, will arrange all the discrepancies.

Money was in good demand, and best bills were being done at 5 P cent. Several failures have taken place in London and Liverpool. Consols fell, upon the resignation of Lord John Russell, and fluctuated between 91; 2 90; closing at 91. The rate by the previous steamer was 91%. The Union to-merow has about $150,000 in gold and a considerable amount of bars, unless the Enchange market reacts, will go over to Boston for the Wednesday stea ner.

In addition to the gold by the North Star, Messra Pege, Bacon & Co remitted $100,000, in two drafts on the Sub Treasury, making the remittance by this boat equal to $1,339,000.

We learn with regret that the correspondent in this the contract of the Canal Department of this State, which will be found on the fifth page. From it we gather that the lowing quotations:

be found on the fifth page. From it we gather that the total amount of tolls received for the past sesson on all the canals was $2,773,566, against $3,204,715 day all the canals was $2,773,300, against $3,204,718 darirg the previous season, abowing a failing off of $431,152. The tunnage was 4,165,862 tuns, against 4,237,853 tans. The value of the property tranported was $210,584,312, against $207,179,570. Of this value, $51,980,864 was in products of animals and agriculture, and $14,384,785 products of the forand agriculture, and or so, so, so products of the forest. The Auditor goes into the statestor of transportation, to show that the amount lost by the canals has been gained by the railroads, and recommends strongly that tolls for the benefit of the canals should be relaid upon competing railroads. The Auditor ex-presses the opinion that the revenue of the next seeeon will not be near sufficient to meet the constitu-tional charges upon it, and calls the attention of the Legislature to this fact, that some action may be to
